ABOUT ME

Graduated from a top-tier university in India with a self-starter attitude and experience in UI/UX design. I am a front-end designer who is curious about not only the design looks, feel, and experienceable but also learned how these designs turned into a fully functional website. I am more curious about my design functionality and also followed a human-centered approach which helps me to get understand people's problems and find the right way to solve them also, At the same time I maintained good communication with the stakeholders and understand their business goals and I help them to achieve it. I am always trying to grow and learn something new. I always pay attention to giving clean look for my projects so I closely observe layout, typography, icons, and visual hierarchy.
